

DYSPEPSIA
Causes its victims to be miserable, hopeless, confused, and depressed in mind, very irritable, languid, and drowsy. It is a disease which does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy to throw off the causes and tone up the digestive organs till they perform their duties willingly. Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven just the required remedy in hundreds of cases.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for dyspepsia, from which I have suffered two years. I tried many other medicines, but none proved so satisfactory as Hood's Sarsaparilla." THOMAS COOK, Brush Electric Light Co., New York City.

Sick Headache
"For the past two years I have been afflicted with severe headaches and dyspepsia. I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and have found great relief. I cheerfully recommend it to all." Mrs. E. F. ANNABER, New Haven, Conn.

Mrs. Mary C. Smith, Cambridgeport, Mass., was a sufferer from dyspepsia and sick headache. She took Hood's Sarsaparilla and found it the best remedy she ever used.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. 50¢ per bottle. Made only by C. L. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar.

Professional Cards.

Cards inserted under this head as follows:
1 inch, per year, $10.
1/2 inch, per year, $5.
1/4 inch, per year, $2.
Ten lines of this type make 1 inch.

J. H. DOYLE, W. S. RUDISILL,
DENTISTS,
HILLSBORO, O.
OFFICE—In McKibben block, S. High street.

NELSON B. LAFFERTY,
Physician and Surgeon,
HILLSBORO, O.
OFFICE—Main street, over Diller's store.
Residence, South street, first door west of Oscar Lemon's.

C. H. COLLINS, JOHN A. COLLINS,
COLLINS & COLLINS,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW,
HILLSBORO, O.
OFFICE—Rooms 1 and 2 Smith Block, corner Main and High streets. A Notary Public in office.

A. EVANS,
DENTIST,
HILLSBORO, O.
OFFICE—Hilben block, formerly Herald office.

HART & GARRETT,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW,
HILLSBORO, O.
OFFICE—Corner of Main and High streets, Merchants' National Bank Building.

GEORGE B. GARDNER,
ATTORNEY AT LAW
HILLSBORO, O.
OFFICE—Over Felt's Clothing Store.

J. R. CALLAHAN, D. D. S.,
DENTIST,
HILLSBORO, O.
OFFICE—Over Felt's Clothing Store, Main street, first door to the right, up stairs.
Engagements by telephone.

A. HARMAN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW
HILLSBORO, O.
OFFICE—South-east corner Main and High streets, room up stairs.

W. C. DUCKWALL, D. D. S.,
DENTIST,
HILLSBORO, O.
OFFICE—Opposite Dr. Hoyt's, W. Main street.

R. S. VANDYKE,
Physicians and Surgeons,
HILLSBORO, O.
OFFICE—No. 36 West Main street, above McGuire's Tobacco Factory.

OLIN J. ROSS,
Attorney at Law and Notary Public
HILLSBORO, O.
OFFICE—In Strauss Building, over Felt's Clothing Store.

D. S. J. SPEER,
Will now give his entire time to the practice of his profession. He has had extensive experience, and will give special attention to the treatment of Chronic Diseases. Office—in McKibben's New Block, up stairs, High street. Residence, No. 51 North High street, 2 doors north of Clifton House, formerly occupied by Hugh Swearingen, Hillsboro, Ohio.

A. LEEN T. BOATMAN,
Attorney and Counselor at Law,
HILLSBORO, O.
OFFICE—Strauss building, Rooms Nos. 8 and 10.

H. A. PAVEY, C. E. BOWLES,
PAVEY & BOWLES,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW,
HILLSBORO, O.
OFFICE—Smith Block, S. W. Cor. Main and High streets.

W. S. PATTERSON, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
HILLSBORO, O.
OFFICE—Over Quinn Brothers' drug-store, opposite Court-house.
Special attention given to diseases of Women and Children.

C. M. O'NEAL, JAMES J. POSEY,
President, Vice-President,
O. S. PRICK, Cashier.

Citizens' National Bank,
Of Hillsboro, O.
Capital, $100,000. Surplus, $50,000.

DIRECTORS:
J. J. Pugsley, G. B. Beecher, W. H. Gregg,
Ellis Overman, John L. West,
F. L. Burgeson, C. M. Overman.

Does a General Banking and Exchange Business. Government and County Bonds bought and sold.

First National Bank,
HILLSBORO, O.
Capital $100,000. Surplus $50,000.

DIRECTORS:
E. C. Barrett, J. H. Richardson,
S. A. Weaver, L. S. Smith,
John A. Smith.

Does a General Banking and Exchange Business.

SCHOOL Reports 25 cents per 100 at the NEW-HERALD OFFICE.

SIGHT-SEEING
At Camp Foraker and in Columbus.
A News-Herald Man as the Guest of the Governor.
Tells of a Good Time at the Capital and the Camp-Ground.

We left Hillsboro Saturday morning, July 3d, for a trip to Columbus and Washington C. H. After a few short stops we arrived at the latter place and proceeded to Camp Foraker, where the soldiers were in camp. While here, at the invitation of Adjutant Callahan and Sergeant Cooper, we ate dinner at the 13th Regiment Headquarters, and had the pleasure of meeting Colonel Thompson, of Georgetown; Quartermaster Reese, of Blanchester, and others, who treated us very kindly.

After dinner preparation was made for the sham-battle. It took place in a large open field immediately back of the camp-ground and represented the battle of Gettysburg, but, unlike the real battle, resulted in the capture of the Federals. Ten thousand persons witnessed the battle.

As we had to leave for Columbus at an early hour we proceeded to the depot, where our train was waiting.

After traveling over a beautiful stretch of fine land we arrived at our destination in time for a late supper.

Retiring early we slept well and arose late Sunday morning and, having breakfasted, started out to "do" the town—visiting the State House and viewing the fifteen thousand dollar painting of Commodore Perry's great victory and other pictures in the rotunda. We next went to the Governor's office where we saw the pictures which represented President Lincoln before and after his assassination. The first pictured the President and his wife in their box and the assassin, with his deadly weapon, ready to fire; the other pictured the assassin after the firing as he was making his escape, and when he caught his spur in the American flag and fell, spraining his ankle, but managed to get out of the building, when he secured a horse and made his escape.

I was told if I had sixteen thousand dollars I could purchase the pictures, but I had made previous arrangements for all my loose spare capital.

The State House is situated on a magnificent piece of ground, surrounded by beautiful trees, in which many squirrels are to be seen. Sign boards reading, "No dogs allowed on these premises," are posted on the trees. This is done for the protection of the squirrels.

The penitentiary was next visited. On being shown through the dining-room, bake shop, and other departments we were told it was Fourth of July the convicts would be treated to an extra dinner, consisting of meat, beans, potatoes, coffee, lemonade and bananas.

In the chapel we were introduced to Chaplain DeBruin, a former resident of Winchester, and brother of our townsman, Captain E. M. DeBruin. He proved to be a very affable gentleman and gave us a good seat where we listened attentively to the sermon. After the services it was amusing to see the prisoners, poor fellows, going to the dining room on the double quick; but sad to think of so many able-bodied men deprived of their liberty. "The way of the transgressor is hard."

Dinner over we visited the barracks, strolling over the beautiful grounds and viewing the numerous cannon and stacks of bullets. We were very tired and did not take the survey of the place we otherwise would have done.

There are many new business houses and dwellings being built. The streets of this city are paved with asphalt which is being removed from the principal streets and granite placed in its stead.

The next morning, Monday, July 5th, with our host and hostess, the Governor and his wife, and their two interesting little girls, we boarded the train for our return trip to Washington. Arriving at that place we found the whole division of soldiers drawn up in line at the depot to receive the Governor, who, after being driven at their head through the streets of the city, proceeded to the camp-ground. A salute of seventeen shots was fired from the cannon as they were entering the ground.

We accepted the kind invitation of Captain Mullenix, of Company A, 13th Regiment and dined with him and his company.

After dinner we decided to see something more of Washington. Walking through the principal streets, admiring the beautiful dwellings and business houses, we noticed three beautiful residences situated in one large lawn, one standing back in the lawn between the other two. Upon inquiry, we learned that they were the dwellings of a father and his two sons, the father living in the center and a son at either side.

The Court-house, a magnificent structure, was next visited. After viewing the place to our heart's content, we wended our way up the narrow stairs to the cupola for the purpose of viewing the works of the great town clock.

We were informed that the pendulum weighs seven hundred pounds and it is supported only by a steel rod one hundred and five inches long. The entire weight of the works, bell included, is seventeen thousand four hundred pounds. The time wheel is eighteen inches in diameter. A commanding view of the city and surrounding country can be had from this point. The path of the cyclone can be plainly seen.

Returned to camp in time to witness the inspection of the troops by the Governor. We had the pleasure of meeting General and Mrs. Axline, also Colonel Pierson, of the Governor's staff.

A noticeable feature of the camp was the Governor's son, J. B. Foraker, Jr., who acted as Orderly Sergeant to General Axline. The Governor's oldest daughter, Miss Florence, and a little daughter of General Axline were also present. There were quite a number of little girls in camp wearing soldier caps, presumably daughters of the officers.

We wish to return thanks to the officers and boys of Company A, of this place, for courtesies shown us.

Boarding the train at 5 P. M. we returned home well pleased with our trip. Local talent an interesting story, but not willing to rob the night of the Grip of his story, I will close.

Tramp Printer
[Continued from first page.]
might answer them. Now those who know me best will assert that I am of an exceedingly modest and retiring disposition, and particularly do I fear to ask questions of a stranger, for a snub is sure to hurt my sensitive feelings, yet I made bold to ask one or two of the stern g-n-tlemen, which were answered very shortly if not sweetly. The third brought from him the good if not very polite advice, that I'd "better go down and ask the superintendent."

Then I felt sure I had made a mistake. The stern gentleman was undoubtedly the Governor. Seeking an orderly who was near by, I inquired why he didn't tell me that was the Governor.

"Tell you that who was the Governor?" he asked, looking kinder surprised.

"Why," said I, "the stern gentleman who was here a minute ago."

"You are mistaken, I think," was the answer, looking extremely nonplussed, "for I have seen nothing of His Excellency here this morning."

"Then it was the Lieutenant-Governor, I am certain," said I, for I didn't think any lesser official could possibly have possessed the stern gentleman's thundering big dignity.

"Neither has the Lieutenant-Governor been here," replied the gentlemanly orderly, who was evidently growing bewildered or imagining me crazy.

"Well, by jingo!" I exclaimed, getting surprised myself, "you don't mean to tell me that that stern, unbending, dignified party with the two young ones just here, would fill a common little office like Secretary of State, do you?"

I fancied the orderly suspected I was employing sarcasm; but I wasn't.

"Him?" and he snickered a little, "why he's only an orderly, paid by the State to show the place to visitors; and he is expected to treat strangers with courtesy and answer questions civilly. His name? Frank Anderson."

I felt awfully ashamed to think I'd made such a mistake in guessing the stern gentleman's official capacity, and I'll try and not let it occur again, and if Mr. Anderson ever wants me to do anything for him I will gladly accommodate him. My address is Tramp Printer, Hillsboro, Ohio.

THE ELLSWORTH RELICS.
When that brave boy, Col. Elmer E. Ellsworth, was killed so early in the war, and after such a daring act as he was doing when so cowardly assassinated, great sorrow was felt all over the North. He was the first officer killed in the war, and one of the youngest, being at the age of about twenty-two, and Colonel of the New York Fire Zouaves. At Alexandria, Va., in 1861, a rebel flag was displayed from the roof of the Marshall House in that place, and without hesitation the gallant officer entered the house, ascended the stairway to the roof and tore down the unsightly sheet. While descending the stairway with the captured flag he was shot by the landlord (a rebel sympathizer). He had scarcely fallen before some of his men, hearing the shot, rushed into the hallway, where the landlord, with the smoking gun still in his hand, denied doing the shooting, but he was bayoneted before he had time to explain the suspicious circumstances in which he was found. The flag is among the relics to be seen here. Upon it is inscribed:

Flag of the Marshall House
Alexandria, Va. Torn down from the staff by Col. Elmer E. Ellsworth, shot and killed at the time of his death. Presented to the Bureau by the N. Y. Volunteer Fire Department.

In the cabinet may also be seen the uniform he wore when killed. It consists of a long frock-coat of gray, with two rows of buttons down the front, the top of the third one from the top of the right row having been torn off by the assassin's bullet, which also made an ugly jagged hole in the coat. The coat has blue cuff-bands, and the pants are of the wide zouave pattern, also of gray, with gilt bordered stripes down the seam, and the cap of red, braided with gilt. His sword, and various other relics are in the cabinet, among them a sheet containing drawings he made of designs for uniforms and equipments, and which show him to have been an expert with the pen. There are two pictures of the ill-fated young man. One represents him standing, leaning upon his sword, wearing a red sash over a long blue coat, red pants, and the red cap of the zouave brigade; and no artist could wish to portray a picture more heroic. He was an ideal soldier and a brave boy.

The Ellsworth cabinet, and cases containing Lincoln relics and other miscellaneous relics, are in one of the corridors, and the relic room proper is near by. Here, through the kindness of Capt. Carr, the affable superintendent of the relic bureau, and his attentive assistant, Mr. Hunt, I was allowed the best of opportunities for inspecting the various relics. Capt. Carr presented me with a catalogue of the relics, which, as I have been so careless to misplace, I must depend upon my memory in describing the objects of interest.

AN OLD DRUM.
Carried both in the Revolution and in the late war, is one of the historical objects. Upon its brass shell is inscribed: Taken from the Enemy August 22, 1777, when the British Army under Gen. Sir Lord raised the siege of Ft. Mifflin, which fortress had been valiantly defended by the gallant General Mifflin, and the British under command of Col. Peter Gansevoort for 31 days.
John Iggett, Capt. John F. Stanger, 1st Lieut. Capt. Sears, 2d Lieut.

And above this appears the inscription: Presented by Peter Gansevoort, of the City of Albany, Connecticut-Law, to the Albany Republican Artillery.

Among the pictures on the wall is one of Gen. Emory Upton, the tactician, who committed suicide in San Francisco, a few years ago, because he couldn't work out a new evolution satisfactorily.

Knights of the Grip.
[Continued from first page.]
the citadel where the immortal lives." Is it the fear of the failure to realize such happiness as this that keeps these dreamers from seeking it in marriage?

There are a class of men who very cautiously estimate the expenses of married life and come to the conclusion they would be a "fool to marry a girl if they could not support her in the style in which she had been accustomed," and with a wise shake of the head, determine to let well enough alone. Can't you man! you are to be pitied. Can't support a wife in this land of plenty! The most inveterate club man, the bitterest scoffers of "love in a cottage," are those men who failed, either from lack of confidence in their own powers of persuasion, or want of means in their youth, to win the one particular woman they worshipped as their ideal. Because the man can not support a woman in elegant style or because the woman refuses to be taken from the lap of luxury and endure a few years of moderate toil and condescend to be a helpmeet to her husband, till they can provide a desirable home, marriage is considered out of the question, and as a result there is in time, another whining, rheumatic old maid and an abominable, gouty old bachelor, added to the already long list. Of course there are excuses for being made and bachelors, and my case is one of the exceptions, and I don't speak of these; but nine cases out of every ten it was their own fault, and I have but little sympathy for them. Young men, get married; be a man; live for a purpose; preserve your health and morals, and don't be a drone in this world.

Like Tramp Printer, I find myself digressing. The people of Greenfield claim, and with good reason, that the real inventor of the gatling gun is a Mr. Bennett, who lives a short distance in the country from this place. It is said that when nearly completed by Bennett, Gatling saw it and knew there was something in it, added a little to the work of Bennett and took out a patent. Bennett is still living, and is at present at work on a new steam excursion boat. He has partially succeeded in his new enterprise.

Greenfield is also the birthplace of the Democratic rooster. The egotistical old cock became the emblem of Democratic victories about 1840, under the following circumstances: Joseph Chapman was an editor of the leading Democratic organ published here, and was an intimate friend of George Patterson, the Democratic candidate for the legislature. Patterson wrote Chapman a letter and told him if the Democrats carried the State he wanted him to do some crowing through his paper. Walpole, Patterson's opponent, by some means obtained the letter Patterson had written and used it in the campaign that followed to ridicule Patterson. This made Chapman, to whom the letter was written, very angry, and he did everything in his power to defeat Walpole. When election day came Patterson was elected and this gave Chapman a chance to crow as advised by Patterson. Nearly every voter in the State knew of the letter and Chapman's intention to crow if the "Dems" were successful, and all were anxious to see the election issue of his paper. Well, he painted that issue red, so to speak, with roosters all crowing fit to kill. Since that time the game bird has been used to designate a Democratic victory.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.
This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 105 Wall Street, N. Y.

WALNUT STREET HOUSE
Col. E. J. Mount—MANAGER—F. J. Oakes
First-class in All its Appointments
POPULAR PRICE, $2 per day.
W. M. TUCKER & CO., Props
FITS STOPPED FREE
IRON FOR ROOFING
CINCINNATI, O. CORRUGATING CO.
WASHINGTON BALTIMORE RAILROAD.
THE ONLY LINE RUNNING
PALACE SLEEPING CARS
AND THE CELEBRATED
DAY COACHES!
TO
WASHINGTON and BALTIMORE
WITHOUT CHANGE.
THE FAVORITE SHORE LINE
TO
INDIANAPOLIS, ST. LOUIS, CHICAGO, KANSAS CITY, OMAHA, AND ALL POINTS IN THE West, Northwest, and Southwest.
Through Trains Leave Hillsboro for Cincinnati, for all points East, and for Washington, Columbus, Wheeling, Pittsburg, and all intermediate points at 7:10 A. M., 8:20 P. M.
For further information and the best possible rates, apply to
E. CARSON, Agent C. & W. & A. R. Hillsboro, or to
E. E. PATTON, Trav. Pass. Ag't, Chillicothe, O.
J. H. STEWART, W. H. KING, Gen'l Manager. Am't G.P.A., Cincinnati.

Tramp Printer
[Continued from first page.]
In a frame also appears the original of the celebrated order of Gen. Dix: Treasury Department, Jan. 16, 1861. Tell Lieutenant Callahan to arrest Captain Brushwood, assume command of the cutter and obey the order I gave through you. If Captain Brushwood undertakes to interfere with the command of the cutter, tell him to consider him as a mutineer and treat him accordingly. If any man attempts to haul down the American flag, shoot him on the spot.
Yours respectfully,
JOHN A. DIX,
Sec'y of the Treasury.

Near by is a picture of Lieut. H. W. Syster, 1st N. Y. Fire Zouaves (11th N. Y. Volunteers) unto whose arms the dying Ellsworth fell.

There are autograph orders of Gen. Washington, rebel coats, guns, balls, cannon, caps, shoes, Mexican coats, etc., and a coat worn through the war of 1812, by Samuel Fellows, a New Hampshire soldier, and a brass helmet bearing the English Royal Arms, worn by a member of the King's Heavy Dragoons at the battle of Waterloo. There is a flag made by the ladies of Jamestown, N. Y., within six hours after the arrival of the news of the firing upon Ft. Sumter, first displayed from the office of the Jamestown Journal.

There is a piece of the figure-head of the Merrimack, found off Newport News in March, 1862, and the bridge bit used by Gen. Worth in the Mexican War.

There are pictures of Mrs. Mary B. Cushing and her four sons: Milton B., who is A. A. Paymaster U. S. N.; Lieut. Wm. B., the hero of the Albatross; Lieut. Howard B., of the 4th U. S. Cavalry, killed by the Apaches in Arizona in 1869; and Lieut. Alonzo H., who fell at the battle of Gettysburg.

THE CHILDREN'S PICTURES.
One of the most touching incidents of that great battle was that of the finding of a tin-type picture of three children in the hand of a dead soldier. There was no way of identifying him, only by the picture, which was copied in the papers throughout the country, leading to the identification of the soldier as Sergeant Hummiston, of a New York Regiment.

"The flowers will blossom sweetly,
Over the unknown soldier's grave,
And the flag he died to save,
Lay him to rest beneath the sod.
The soldier unknown, but to his God."

The following bill of fare picked up at Vicksburg after its fall, may be seen here. It proves that the beleaguered Southerners were not without their fun in their darkest hours—

"BILL OF FARE.
Hotel de Vicksburg, July, 1863.
SOUP.
Mule Tail.
BOILED.
Mule bacon, with Pokes greens; Mule Ham candied.
ROAST.
Mule sirloin; Mule ramp, stuffed with rice.
VEGETABLES.
Potatoes and rice.
ENTREE.
Mule head, stuffed in a mode; Mule beef jerky in a Mexican; Mule ears fricasseed in a mode; Mule sides fried (new style); Mule liver, hashed.
SIDE DISHER.
Mule salad; mule hoof sauced; mule brains a la cream; mule kidney sauced with peas; Mule tripe fried in pea meal butter; Mule tongue in a bray.
JELLIES.
Mule foot.
PASTRY.
Pea meal pudding, blackberry sauce; cotton-wad berry pie; Chincherry tart.
DESSERT.
Beech nuts; white oak acorns; blackberry leaf tea; genuine Confederate coffee.
LIQUORS.
Mississippi Water, vintage 1402, superior, $3.00; Louisiana Water, Imported, very fine, $2.75; Spring Water, Vicksburg brand, $1.50.
Meals at all hours, guests to wait upon themselves. Any institution on the part of servants will be promptly reported at the office. "Capt." The proprietors of the justly celebrated Hotel de Vicksburg have enlarged and refitted the hotel, and are now prepared to accommodate all who may favor them with a call. Parties arriving by the river or Great Lakes will always find Grape, Canister & Co.'s oranges at the landing or any depot on the line of embankments. Buck, Ball & Co. take charge of all baggage. No efforts will be spared to make the visit of all as satisfactory as possible.

CAPITOL SUMMARY.
The construction of the new Capitol was begun seventeen years ago, and the structure will not be completed for some years yet. It has already cost nearly $200,000, and will cost several millions more by the time it is completed. There is a large court in the center, and a tower is now going up upon the center of the east front that will be 365 feet high and visible for many a mile. I climbed over an improvised barricade and ascended an iron stairway up to one of the highest windows, and the view I had was fairly like. The city and its environments are spread out like a picture and the beautiful Hudson winding its way down from the home of the Trojans—lends its full share to the beauty of the scene. From the deck of a steamer going to and from Pleasure Island (a summer resort), I had a fine view of the city, and the State House looms up great from this point, as it also does from the West Shore road below the city.

I could write columns about that relic room and the State House, but space forbids. Next week I will write of Washington's Headquarters at Newburgh, and of a trip down the Highlands of the Hudson.

Tramp Printer
The President of the Cambridge, Mass. Fire Ins. Co., recommends Hood's Sarsaparilla as a building up and strengthening remedy.

It is poor economy not to keep buildings well painted, for the moisture that paint would stop soon causes rotting boards and timbers.

Food for the brain and nerves that will improve the body without any debilitating effect, and is used in the most delicate cases of nervous debility, is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It restores the vital energies, and brings good health and vigor to the system.

Smoker—Look here, I have just drawn. I just bought of you a new set of pipes. I just bought of you a new set of pipes. I just bought of you a new set of pipes.

Tramp Printer
[Continued from first page.]
In a frame also appears the original of the celebrated order of Gen. Dix: Treasury Department, Jan. 16, 1861. Tell Lieutenant Callahan to arrest Captain Brushwood, assume command of the cutter and obey the order I gave through you. If Captain Brushwood undertakes to interfere with the command of the cutter, tell him to consider him as a mutineer and treat him accordingly. If any man attempts to haul down the American flag, shoot him on the spot.
Yours respectfully,
JOHN A. DIX,
Sec'y of the Treasury.

Near by is a picture of Lieut. H. W. Syster, 1st N. Y. Fire Zouaves (11th N. Y. Volunteers) unto whose arms the dying Ellsworth fell.

There are autograph orders of Gen. Washington, rebel coats, guns, balls, cannon, caps, shoes, Mexican coats, etc., and a coat worn through the war of 1812, by Samuel Fellows, a New Hampshire soldier, and a brass helmet bearing the English Royal Arms, worn by a member of the King's Heavy Dragoons at the battle of Waterloo. There is a flag made by the ladies of Jamestown, N. Y., within six hours after the arrival of the news of the firing upon Ft. Sumter, first displayed from the office of the Jamestown Journal.

There is a piece of the figure-head of the Merrimack, found off Newport News in March, 1862, and the bridge bit used by Gen. Worth in the Mexican War.

There are pictures of Mrs. Mary B. Cushing and her four sons: Milton B., who is A. A. Paymaster U. S. N.; Lieut. Wm. B., the hero of the Albatross; Lieut. Howard B., of the 4th U. S. Cavalry, killed by the Apaches in Arizona in 1869; and Lieut. Alonzo H., who fell at the battle of Gettysburg.

THE CHILDREN'S PICTURES.
One of the most touching incidents of that great battle was that of the finding of a tin-type picture of three children in the hand of a dead soldier. There was no way of identifying him, only by the picture, which was copied in the papers throughout the country, leading to the identification of the soldier as Sergeant Hummiston, of a New York Regiment.

"The flowers will blossom sweetly,
Over the unknown soldier's grave,
And the flag he died to save,
Lay him to rest beneath the sod.
The soldier unknown, but to his God."

The following bill of fare picked up at Vicksburg after its fall, may be seen here. It proves that the beleaguered Southerners were not without their fun in their darkest hours—

"BILL OF FARE.
Hotel de Vicksburg, July, 1863.
SOUP.
Mule Tail.
BOILED.
Mule bacon, with Pokes greens; Mule Ham candied.
ROAST.
Mule sirloin; Mule ramp, stuffed with rice.
VEGETABLES.
Potatoes and rice.
ENTREE.
Mule head, stuffed in a mode; Mule beef jerky in a Mexican; Mule ears fricasseed in a mode; Mule sides fried (new style); Mule liver, hashed.
SIDE DISHER.
Mule salad; mule hoof sauced; mule brains a la cream; mule kidney sauced with peas; Mule tripe fried in pea meal butter; Mule tongue in a bray.
JELLIES.
Mule foot.
PASTRY.
Pea meal pudding, blackberry sauce; cotton-wad berry pie; Chincherry tart.
DESSERT.
Beech nuts; white oak acorns; blackberry leaf tea; genuine Confederate coffee.
LIQUORS.
Mississippi Water, vintage 1402, superior, $3.00; Louisiana Water, Imported, very fine, $2.75; Spring Water, Vicksburg brand, $1.50.
Meals at all hours, guests to wait upon themselves. Any institution on the part of servants will be promptly reported at the office. "Capt." The proprietors of the justly celebrated Hotel de Vicksburg have enlarged and refitted the hotel, and are now prepared to accommodate all who may favor them with a call. Parties arriving by the river or Great Lakes will always find Grape, Canister & Co.'s oranges at the landing or any depot on the line of embankments. Buck, Ball & Co. take charge of all baggage. No efforts will be spared to make the visit of all as satisfactory as possible.

CAPITOL SUMMARY.
The construction of the new Capitol was begun seventeen years ago, and the structure will not be completed for some years yet. It has already cost nearly $200,000, and will cost several millions more by the time it is completed. There is a large court in the center, and a tower is now going up upon the center of the east front that will be 365 feet high and visible for many a mile. I climbed over an improvised barricade and ascended an iron stairway up to one of the highest windows, and the view I had was fairly like. The city and its environments are spread out like a picture and the beautiful Hudson winding its way down from the home of the Trojans—lends its full share to the beauty of the scene. From the deck of a steamer going to and from Pleasure Island (a summer resort), I had a fine view of the city, and the State House looms up great from this point, as it also does from the West Shore road below the city.

I could write columns about that relic room and the State House, but space forbids. Next week I will write of Washington's Headquarters at Newburgh, and of a trip down the Highlands of the Hudson.

Tramp Printer
The President of the Cambridge, Mass. Fire Ins. Co., recommends Hood's Sarsaparilla as a building up and strengthening remedy.

It is poor economy not to keep buildings well painted, for the moisture that paint would stop soon causes rotting boards and timbers.

Food for the brain and nerves that will improve the body without any debilitating effect, and is used in the most delicate cases of nervous debility, is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It restores the vital energies, and brings good health and vigor to the system.

Smoker—Look here, I have just drawn. I just bought of you a new set of pipes. I just bought of you a new set of pipes. I just bought of you a new set of pipes.

Tramp Printer
[Continued from first page.]
In a frame also appears the original of the celebrated order of Gen. Dix: Treasury Department, Jan. 16, 1861. Tell Lieutenant Callahan to arrest Captain Brushwood, assume command of the cutter and obey the order I gave through you. If Captain Brushwood undertakes to interfere with the command of the cutter, tell him to consider him as a mutineer and treat him accordingly. If any man attempts to haul down the American flag, shoot him on the spot.
Yours respectfully,
JOHN A. DIX,
Sec'y of the Treasury.

Near by is a picture of Lieut. H. W. Syster, 1st N. Y. Fire Zouaves (11th N. Y. Volunteers) unto whose arms the dying Ellsworth fell.

There are autograph orders of Gen. Washington, rebel coats, guns, balls, cannon, caps, shoes, Mexican coats, etc., and a coat worn through the war of 1812, by Samuel Fellows, a New Hampshire soldier, and a brass helmet bearing the English Royal Arms, worn by a member of the King's Heavy Dragoons at the battle of Waterloo. There is a flag made by the ladies of Jamestown, N. Y., within six hours after the arrival of the news of the firing upon Ft. Sumter, first displayed from the office of the Jamestown Journal.

There is a piece of the figure-head of the Merrimack, found off Newport News in March, 1862, and the bridge bit used by Gen. Worth in the Mexican War.

There are pictures of Mrs. Mary B. Cushing and her four sons: Milton B., who is A. A. Paymaster U. S. N.; Lieut. Wm. B., the hero of the Albatross; Lieut. Howard B., of the 4th U. S. Cavalry, killed by the Apaches in Arizona in 1869; and Lieut. Alonzo H., who fell at the battle of Gettysburg.

THE CHILDREN'S PICTURES.
One of the most touching incidents of that great battle was that of the finding of a tin-type picture of three children in the hand of a dead soldier. There was no way of identifying him, only by the picture, which was copied in the papers throughout the country, leading to the identification of the soldier as Sergeant Hummiston, of a New York Regiment.

"The flowers will blossom sweetly,
Over the unknown soldier's grave,
And the flag he died to save,
Lay him to rest beneath the sod.
The soldier unknown, but to his God."

The following bill of fare picked up at Vicksburg after its fall, may be seen here. It proves that the beleaguered Southerners were not without their fun in their darkest hours—

"BILL OF FARE.
Hotel de Vicksburg, July, 1863.
SOUP.
Mule Tail.
BOILED.
Mule bacon, with Pokes greens; Mule Ham candied.
ROAST.
Mule sirloin; Mule ramp, stuffed with rice.
VEGETABLES.
Potatoes and rice.
ENTREE.
Mule head, stuffed in a mode; Mule beef jerky in a Mexican; Mule ears fricasseed in a mode; Mule sides fried (new style); Mule liver, hashed.
SIDE DISHER.
Mule salad; mule hoof sauced; mule brains a la cream; mule kidney sauced with peas; Mule tripe fried in pea meal butter; Mule tongue in a bray.
JELLIES.
Mule foot.
PASTRY.
Pea meal pudding, blackberry sauce; cotton-wad berry pie; Chincherry tart.
DESSERT.
Beech nuts; white oak acorns; blackberry leaf tea; genuine Confederate coffee.
LIQUORS.
Mississippi Water, vintage 1402, superior, $3.00; Louisiana Water, Imported, very fine, $2.75; Spring Water, Vicksburg brand, $1.50.
Meals at all hours, guests to wait upon themselves. Any institution on the part of servants will be promptly reported at the office. "Capt." The proprietors of the justly celebrated Hotel de Vicksburg have enlarged and refitted the hotel, and are now prepared to accommodate all who may favor them with a call. Parties arriving by the river or Great Lakes will always find Grape, Canister & Co.'s oranges at the landing or any depot on the line of embankments. Buck, Ball & Co. take charge of all baggage. No efforts will be spared to make the visit of all as satisfactory as possible.

CAPITOL SUMMARY.
The construction of the new Capitol was begun seventeen years ago, and the structure will not be completed for some years yet. It has already cost nearly $200,000, and will cost several millions more by the time it is completed. There is a large court in the center, and a tower is now going up upon the center of the east front that will be 365 feet high and visible for many a mile. I climbed over an improvised barricade and ascended an iron stairway up to one of the highest windows, and the view I had was fairly like. The city and its environments are spread out like a picture and the beautiful Hudson winding its way down from the home of the Trojans—lends its full share to the beauty of the scene. From the deck of a steamer going to and from Pleasure Island (a summer resort), I had a fine view of the city, and the State House looms up great from this point, as it also does from the West Shore road below the city.

I could write columns about that relic room and the State House, but space forbids. Next week I will write of Washington's Headquarters at Newburgh, and of a trip down the Highlands of the Hudson.

Tramp Printer
The President of the Cambridge, Mass. Fire Ins. Co., recommends Hood's Sarsaparilla as a building up and strengthening remedy.

It is poor economy not to keep buildings well painted, for the moisture that paint would stop soon causes rotting boards and timbers.

Food for the brain and nerves that will improve the body without any debilitating effect, and is used in the most delicate cases of nervous debility, is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It restores the vital energies, and brings good health and vigor to the system.

Smoker—Look here, I have just drawn. I just bought of you a new set of pipes. I just bought of you a new set of pipes. I just bought of you a new set of pipes.

Tramp Printer
[Continued from first page.]
In a frame also appears the original of the celebrated order of Gen. Dix: Treasury Department, Jan. 16, 1861. Tell Lieutenant Callahan to arrest Captain Brushwood, assume command of the cutter and obey the order I gave through you. If Captain Brushwood undertakes to interfere with the command of the cutter, tell him to consider him as a mutineer and treat him accordingly. If any man attempts to haul down the American flag, shoot him on the spot.
Yours respectfully,
JOHN A. DIX,
Sec'y of the Treasury.

Near by is a picture of Lieut. H. W. Syster, 1st N. Y. Fire Zouaves (11th N. Y. Volunteers) unto whose arms the dying Ellsworth fell.

There are autograph orders of Gen. Washington, rebel coats, guns, balls, cannon, caps, shoes, Mexican coats, etc., and a coat worn through the war of 1812, by Samuel Fellows, a New Hampshire soldier, and a brass helmet bearing the English Royal Arms, worn by a member of the King's Heavy Dragoons at the battle of Waterloo. There is a flag made by the ladies of Jamestown, N. Y., within six hours after the arrival of the news of the firing upon Ft. Sumter, first displayed from the office of the Jamestown Journal.

There is a piece of the figure-head of the Merrimack, found off Newport News in March, 1862, and the bridge bit used by Gen. Worth in the Mexican War.

There are pictures of Mrs. Mary B. Cushing and her four sons: Milton B., who is A. A. Paymaster U. S. N.; Lieut. Wm. B., the hero of the Albatross; Lieut. Howard B., of the 4th U. S. Cavalry, killed by the Apaches in Arizona in 1869; and Lieut. Alonzo H., who fell at the battle of Gettysburg.

THE CHILDREN'S PICTURES.
One of the most touching incidents of that great battle was that of the finding of a tin-type picture of three children in the hand of a dead soldier. There was no way of identifying him, only by the picture, which was copied in the papers throughout the country, leading to the identification of the soldier as Sergeant Hummiston, of a New York Regiment.

"The flowers will blossom sweetly,
Over the unknown soldier's grave,
And the flag he died to save,
Lay him to rest beneath the sod.
The soldier unknown, but to his God."

The following bill of fare picked up at Vicksburg after its fall, may be seen here. It proves that the beleaguered Southerners were not without their fun in their darkest hours—

"BILL OF FARE.
Hotel de Vicksburg, July, 1863.
SOUP.
Mule Tail.
BOILED.
Mule bacon, with Pokes greens; Mule Ham candied.
ROAST.
Mule sirloin; Mule ramp, stuffed with rice.
VEGETABLES.
Potatoes and rice.
ENTREE.
Mule head, stuffed in a mode; Mule beef jerky in a Mexican; Mule ears fricasseed in a mode; Mule sides fried (new style); Mule liver, hashed.
SIDE DISHER.
Mule salad; mule hoof sauced; mule brains a la cream; mule kidney sauced with peas; Mule tripe fried in pea meal butter; Mule tongue in a bray.
JELLIES.
Mule foot.
PASTRY.
Pea meal pudding, blackberry sauce; cotton-wad berry pie; Chincherry tart.
DESSERT.
Beech nuts; white oak acorns; blackberry leaf tea; genuine Confederate coffee.
LIQUORS.
Mississippi Water, vintage 1402, superior, $3.00; Louisiana Water, Imported, very fine, $2.75; Spring Water, Vicksburg brand, $1.50.
Meals at all hours, guests to wait upon themselves. Any institution on the part of servants will be promptly reported at the office. "Capt." The proprietors of the justly celebrated Hotel de Vicksburg have enlarged and refitted the hotel, and are now prepared to accommodate all who may favor them with a call. Parties arriving by the river or Great Lakes will always find Grape, Canister & Co.'s oranges at the landing or any depot on the line of embankments. Buck, Ball & Co. take charge of all baggage. No efforts will be spared to make the visit of all as satisfactory as possible.

CAPITOL SUMMARY.
The construction of the new Capitol was begun seventeen years ago, and the structure will not be completed for some years yet. It has already cost nearly